

3 MEN OF D. C. IN CASUALTIES

Lieut. Col. James A. Shannon, West Pointer, Killed in Action.

One Washington man was killed and two wounded in the advancing American drive, according to the casualty list issued by the War Department yesterday. The men mentioned were Lieut. Col. James A. Shannon, Maj. Herman Beukema and Private Louis A. Smithers.

Lieut. Col. James A. Shannon, reported killed in action October 8, was a graduate of West Point with the class of 1908. He had been an officer in the regular army since that time. His wife, who is the daughter of Brig. Gen. Elmer H. Hoyle, U. S. A., retired, was notified of her husband's death by cablegram from her brother-in-law, Col. John K. Herr, chief of staff of the Tenth Division, "Col. Shannon died," Gen. Hoyle said yesterday, "the death of a soldier. He was wounded while leading his men and afterward walked back from the front lines for treatment at the hospital. It was as he would have preferred death to come."

Maj. Beukema Wounded.
Maj. Herman Beukema, whose Washington home is given as the Ontario apartments, was wounded in action at St. Mihiel. During a barrage fire a bit of shrapnel wounded him severely. Since Maj. Beukema's graduation from West Point in 1915 as a second lieutenant he has received rapid promotion. When the United States entered the war Maj. Beukema was a captain shortly after his arrival in France. With the beginning of the American drive he became a major and was given command of the 38th Field Artillery.

SPECIAL TRAINING IDEA FOR WAR WORKERS UP

Education Outside Hours to Be Offered by Government.

Ninety thousand government employees, "war workers," in Washington are to be given an opportunity to enjoy educational training out of office hours through a plan now under consideration by the United States Bureau of Education.

Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, yesterday sent out to these employees a questionnaire designed to indicate the extent to which government employees would be likely to take advantage of educational facilities, if provided, and also to show the subjects in which each would be most interested. Upon return of the questionnaire blanks the commissioner will call a conference of other public officials and heads of local educational institutions, who have already been considering the matter, to determine upon means to meet the requirements expressed by the workers.

Anthracite Output Cut By Influenza Epidemic

Anthracite production for the week ended October 19 fell off in spite of the efforts of the Fuel Administration and the patriotic spirit of the miners and operators to increase it. The decrease, which was 19,074 tons from that of the week ended October 12, showed a total output of anthracite from the mines of 1,371,144 tons. This decrease in production has been due to the epidemic of influenza, the Fuel Administration states.

VISITORS LUNCH AT CATHOLIC U.

Many Distinguished Guests Hear Bishop Keating on Ireland.

At a luncheon at Catholic University yesterday men of international repute paid honor to the Roman Catholic delegates from the allied countries who came to America to be present at the golden jubilee of Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore. The Right Rev. Bishop Shanahan, rector of the university had, in addition to the foreign visitors, eighty distinguished men as his guests.

Among the Washington men of prominence who were present were: Jules Jusserand, Ambassador of France; E. Cartier de Marchienne, Minister from Belgium; M. de Billy, head of the French High Commission; Louis Aubert and Capt. Pierre Fleury, of the French High Commission; Edward Douglas White, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; L. S. Rowe, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Philander P. Claxton, Commissioner of Education; Mr. Jamison, editor of the American Review of History, and Mr. Thomas, rector of St. Patrick's Church.

Bishop Keating's Address.
The entire group of papal delegates were present. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Keating, of the See of Hampton, England, gave a short address at the conclusion of the lunch-eat party, certainly no British government, will ever again be willing to play Ulster's hand or seek to perpetuate the intolerable situation which has wrought misery to so many generations.

Immediately after the luncheon the visiting clergy were received in a private audience by President Wilson.

The French delegation dined with the French High Commission last night. They will be guests of honor at dinner at the French Embassy tonight.

BOOTLEGGERS TRAPPED IN HOTEL BY RUSS

Accusations of bootlegging were made last night against Henry P. Dels, colored, night porter at a downtown hotel, by local detectives. Suspicions had centered around the porter on several occasions for retailing contraband liquor, it is said. The disclosure last night was due to the strategy of Federal officers John J. McGeath and R. C. Wilton and precinct detective W. F. Burke. The detective engaged a room in the hotel early in the evening. At the same time they made a point of talking with the suspected man. On the pretext of needing information regarding local train service they gained admission into his room. When drinks were asked for the porter brought a neatly packed suitcase from a corner of the room. The men had several drinks paying for them with marked money. When sufficient evidence had been obtained the detectives showed their official badges to the bootlegger. Dels came to Washington several months ago from Toronto. He has been employed at a downtown hotel since his arrival.
